Affairs at Johnstown

Work of Restoration But Slowly Progressing.

RAIN INTERFERES WITH WORK.

The fires consuming the debris refuse to burn and dynamite is the only resort. The loss of life may not reach the estimated number—wants and needs of the sufferers.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 15.—Pouring rain with intervals of scorching sunshine greatly retarded the progress of removal of wreckage yesterday. The laborers generally refused to take a soaking for the $1.50 they might have earned by so doing. The delay is trying to the patience of all parties interested. It is sunny and raining hard now, and the first day of work was done on the place where dynamiting was continued throughout the entire day, and a large part of the big raft toward the upper end has been dislodged. Some of the shots were terrific, both in effect and noise. One charge contained 140 pounds of the explosive.

The smell of burned and decaying flesh almost drove the dynamiters from their work. The odor emanating from this pile of debris is simply terrible.

Effort Work Probable.

An effort will be made to have the work at the bridge continued by night as well as by day, and some special inducement will probably be presented to the men to keep them at their work, rain or shine. The aim of those in charge is to have everything systematized by the time of Governor Beaver's arrival on his proposed tour of inspection. The organization is now believed to be as nearly perfect as it can be made, and every department is in control of responsible and competent men.

The necessity for a lockup was apparent yesterday, and others have been issued for the construction of a proper building for this purpose. Several arrests for various offenses were made by the police and soldiers. The culprits were locked in a box car for safe keeping.

Encouragement to Immigrants.

Col. Moody, division passenger agent, of the Pennsylvania lines, west of Pittsburgh, has been commissioned as superintendent of transportation. Black orders for tickets to be charged to the state have been prepared, and will be given to those desiring to leave for the west. A great many have already left the city, and others are anxiously waiting to start.

Decision to Be a Commissioner.

Mr. Fulton's declaration to serve as one of Governor Beaver's commissioners for the relief fund, provoked much harsh criticism from many of Johnstown's prominent citizens, some claiming that Mr. Fulton was not the friend of the sufferers here that he claimed to be. Mr. Fulton gave as his reason for declining to serve, that he will be too much occupied in getting the Cambria works in operation.

Recommendations to the Governor.

A meeting of citizens was hastily called at the Pennsylvania freight house. A. J. Maxham presided and stated that "it is all important that we should have a representative citizen on that commission. We do not know whether the governor will entertain our recommendation, but I think that if we would telegraph advising the appointment of some one who is in sympathy with our people and in whom we all have confidence, he would probably comply with our suggestion."

Capt. Kuhns, with suggestive tone of voice, moved "That we recommend to the governor that John Fulton's resignation be accepted promptly and that we place in nomination a man who has the confidence and love of every man, woman and child in the Conemaugh valley. I need not John P. Linton." Other speakers followed and Col. Linton was selected and a telegram to that effect was sent to the governor.

Saloon at Cambria to Be Closed.

It was discovered last night that several saloons had opened up for business in Cambria City. The report reached Gen. Hastings that men were reaching and drinking. Orders were sent at once to Col. Percival to notify the proprietors to close up at once. In case of non-compliance a guard will be placed in the rum shops. Two thousand seven hundred dollars in money, raised by Pittsburgh teachers who are out of employment and were financially ruined by the flood, were received yesterday. The fund was placed in the care of a committee of local teachers.

Newspaper Men's Excursion.

The Pennsylvania railway is arranging to take the newspaper men now here over the road as far as South Fork and Cameron to view the track of the flood. The excursion will be some day next week.

The Actual Loss of Life.

The aggregate number of bodies found thus far is 953 at Johnstown and surrounding moraine. At Johnstown 189; in Indiana county 50. This was up to Wednesday morning. The things are done that time are 48; some of these were found yesterday. This makes a total of 1,240. Of the bodies found yesterday, those of W. B. Hoss, Capt. O'Connell and Mary Holman were identified.

Col. Rodgers, who has charge of listing the dead, says he still thinks the aggregate will fall below 2,500. He is finding great difficulty, however, in making up his list. Only 15,500 survivors out of a population of 29,000 have been registered.

Alexander Sullivan Released on Bail.

TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

The Judge Decides That There is Not Very Little Evidence Against Him. Nothing Starting Revealed Before the Grand Jury.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Alexander Sullivan was released yesterday afternoon under bail of $20,000. Sullivan was escorted by Sheriff Matson and two deputies into Judge Tukey's court room about 3 o'clock. He was a shade paler than usual, and at the audible commotion caused by his appearance his eyes swept the crowd with a hunted look as if in apprehension of a horrible demonstration. Judge Tukey entered the court room at 3:45, and without any delay plunged into the case.

Having explained the petition, and the law upon which it was based, he proceeded to briefly review the testimony taken at the coroner's inquest. He quoted copiously from the evidence of the witnesses, to whom Cronin had said that Alexander Sullivan would be the cause of his death, and that the latter had instigated a conspiracy to kill him. None of this evidence, he said, was admitted in a court of law. This excluded, there was practically no evidence against him. It was conceded that Sullivan was an enemy of Cronin's; it was conceded that Cronin was a friend of Sullivan's. There were several theories of the murder. One was that he was murdered by people for revenge growing out of the society troubles.

Assuming this to be so, what evidence was there identifying Sullivan with the crime. He was not shown to be connected with the renting of the cottage, or the hiring of the horse and buggy. It was not shown that he knew Sullivan or had met any of the other persons. No act could be traced known to him. The theory that he was killed to prevent the exposure of the secrets of the triangle was unreasonable. It did not appear that Cronin was in possession of any vital facts. All he had would have been in existence after his death. All of the evidence taken at the Buffalo investigation was in the possession of Dr. McCleary, of Philadelphia, and others.

As to the theory that the crime was perpetrated as a result of a quarrel of the Cronin-Gael, the fact stood out that Sullivan had severed his connection with that order years ago. How, then, could he influence or control it? It was not shown that he had ever met or had any business dealings with any of the other conspirators. The jury was influenced by hearsay testimony. The longest evidence against Sullivan was furnished by himself. It was the protest issued five days after the doctor's disappearance against his sitting on the Sullivan trial committee. It was couched in language of extraordinary violence and hatred.

But this very publication at such a time tended to show that Sullivan had no knowledge of the conspiracy. It seemed incredible that if he was a party to it, he would promulgate such a statement right after the murder. The evidence pointed to Sullivan as a man who desired revenge on Cronin, but it pointed to no overt act. No impartial man could make up his mind that any jury would convict Sullivan on this evidence. The mere fact that one party was an enemy of the man killed, was no proof that he was a participant in the murder. He had therefore come to the conclusion, and not without very considerable hesitations, that bail to such an amount as to insure his appearance, should an indictment be found should be accepted.

Sullivan preserved his usual cool, stolid demeanor, when the conclusion was announced and an attempt to applaud was suppressed by the bailiffs. There was an argument between the state's attorney and Mr. Trude as to the amount of bail. The latter, who said Sullivan was almost entirely without means, though $2,000 to $3,000 sufficient. Finally $20,000 was agreed upon. Four friends, who swore to the agency, real estate, stepped forward, the bonds were made out and signed and Sullivan walked out of the room a free man.

The grand jury spent several hours in hearing the witnesses that testified before the coroner, but little progress was made. Officer Daniel Brown, who preferred the charges of treason against Cronin, was on the stand five hours, but it is understood that he did not vary much from his previous testimony.

Is Truly a Spy?

TORONTO, Ont., June 15.—The Empire says: It would not be a surprise to some people if Dennis C. Feely, one of the men now brought forward most prominently in connection with the Cronin murder at Chicago, would turn out to be a British spy. He was at one time a member of the Fenian society. He joined the Colouring garrison battery many years ago. By his zeal and attention to duty he soon worked his way up to the position of sergeant major, and served in that capacity in 1866, during the Fenian raid when his battery was stationed in the old fort at Toronto. As soon as he was released from service he went to Rochester, where he became the head center of the Remain organization. From there he went to Chicago. His name appears on the old service roll of the two batteries of artillery, that were quartered in the old fort, and it may be found on the pay sheets of the militia department of Ottawa.

The Hotel Register Clerk.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 15.—William G. Melville, a clerk in the office of the Trans-Missouri Railway association, was in Chicago on April 15 last, and registered as W. G. Melville at McCoy's hotel in that city. Chicago detectives heard that John J. Maroney, who is implicated in the Cronin murder, registered at the hotel about the same time, and after a comparison of Maroney's handwriting with the name in the register declared that Maroney had written the name "W. G. Melville." The detectives also discovered, as is alleged, that Melville, who is an Irish Nationalist of San Francisco, had numerous interviews with Maroney or Melville at the hotel. Between April 15 and April 21st, Melville only stopped in Chicago one day, and the man who had interviews with him was Samuel Stophlet, another railroad man who is in the same office with Melville. W. G. Melville is not an Irishman, and never had any connection with any clan or clandestine organization. He was raised in Lawrence, Kas., and since leaving school has been in the employ of railroads. He is about 30 years of age.

Another Arrest.

The police last night arrested Thomas Tierney, a teamster employed by Sullivan, and he was locked up at the Central station. Tierney has been under surveillance ever since Cronin's body was found and it is believed that he knows a good deal about the murder. It was learned last night that Hatfield, the clerk who sold the furniture that was delivered at No. 117 Clark street, Throokmorton, the clerk for Night & Leonard, who rented the rooms at the above number to the man Simons, and Martineau, the expressman who removed the furniture thence to the Cronin cottage, had been taken to New York by detectives, to see if they can identify Maroney and McDonald as the men with whom they had the transaction.

WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

A Few Important Events Which Occurred at the National Capital.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The time for opening bids for the construction of three 2,000 ton cruisers for the navy has been extended from Aug. 1 to Aug. 23. On the same date proposals for the construction of the two 3,000 ton cruisers, provided for by the act of Sept. 7, 1888, will also be opened at the navy department.

Only American ship builders will be allowed to compete, and the successful bidder or bidders must guarantee that the vessels shall exhibit a maximum speed of at least nineteen knots per hour.

Interior Department Appointments.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The following appointments were made in the interior department yesterday: Nathan L. Frothingham, of Massachusetts, law clerk (George B. Squires, of New York, special agent general land office); T. C. Copeland, of New York, statistical expert census office, and Henry W. Crawford, of New Mexico, custodian of the Fort Craig abandoned military reservation.

Division for Fidelity Bank Creditors.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The comptroller of the currency has declared a second dividend of 10 per cent in favor of the creditors of the Fidelity National bank of Cincinnati, O., which failed June 20, 1887. This makes in all 35 per cent paid to creditors of the bank on claims proved, amounting to $3,833,238.

The Chippewa Outbreak.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Neither Secretary Noble nor Acting Commissioner Bell has received any confirmation of the reported Chippewa outbreak and massacre in Minnesota.

Presidential Appointment.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The president has appointed Stuart W. Cramer assayer and melter of the United States assay office at Charlotte, N. C.

NATURAL GAS EXPLOSION.

Several Persons Seriously Wounded and Burned at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 15.—By an explosion of natural gas at the residence of Mrs. Killbourn, 144 East New York street yesterday afternoon, the following named persons were seriously burned or bruised: Fred L. McGahan, plumber, will probably die; J. T. Crowder, painter; Louis H. Fahrbrach; Mrs. Ella Killbourn, injuries very painful, but will probably recover.

The Killbourn family had recently moved into the house, and called in a plumber to connect the stoves with the gas-pipes. While so engaged the gas was ignited from a lighted match, wrecking the house and burning all the occupants of the room.

A Kentucky Shooting Affray.

CYNTHIANA, Ky., June 14.—At Lebas & Hickman's tobacco warehouse Thursday afternoon Bob Mitchell, proprietor of a saloon, and Thomas and Charlie Tober had a shooting scrape. The Tober brothers were pricing tobacco and went into the rear yard, when Mitchell began firing. Four shots were fired and Tom Tober caught one bullet in the shoulder, which was later extracted by Dr. W. N. Scott. The wound is not fatal. Mitchell received severe wounds in the chest and arm, and was arrested.

The wisdom of the weather clerk in mixing water with the Kentucky corn crop this season is demonstrated by the fact that blue grass farmers are beginning to see double-headed green vipers. Patrick Cook, highly respected and perfectly reliable, reports the presence in Bracken county.

DUN'S WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

A slight improvement reported from nearly all the leading trade centers. A few facts on exports and imports. Failures of the past week.

NEW YORK, June 15.—R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade says: The better feeling which was observed a week ago in the iron and steel and the woolen industries still continues, and improvement is now felt in prices as well as in magnitude of transactions. Meanwhile exports of merchandise increase, and nevertheless gold goes abroad in large amounts, about $3,500,000 having been ordered for shipment, the imports of merchandise remain about as large as they were a year ago, when the excess over exports was heavy. In the two weeks of June the value of merchandise exports from New York gains 20 per cent. over last year, and the exports of breadstuffs, cotton, provisions and oil for May were 12 per cent. above last year. These facts point to a smaller, but yet considerable excess of imports over exports this year, so that the outward movement of specie is fully explained, irrespective of trading in securities, but in these it is still the impression that foreign sales exceed purchases.

The news as to railroad properties is more favorable. A proposition to sell the Northwestern controversy on the basis of an allowance of 60 per cent. through freight to the lake lines is expected to be accepted. Other difficulties are in more satisfactory shape, and earnings continue in excess of last year. Rapid progress in restoring lines interrupted by the floods gives additional encouragement, and the loss of property and of life appears from later accounts to be less than was at first reported. Meanwhile the government and other crop reports, though in some points conflicting, are on the whole decidedly encouraging, but report of injury by lack of rain in some regions have been made the pretext for a little movement in the market, and the general advance of prices has again been checked.

Reports from other cities indicate improvement in trade. Cleveland and Pittsburgh, and in the wool and groceries trades at Philadelphia, but are otherwise but little changed. Collections show no improvement on the whole, but complaints refer more frequently to the clothing trade than to any other, and some continuing embarrassment there is a legacy from the last open winter. In dry goods there are about signs of greater activity, and some bleached cottons have been advanced while brown goods recently reduced in price have in some instances been put back. Especial activity in leather has resulted from the floods in regions where many tanneries are located and crop leather has advanced fully two cents since June 1. The glass trade of Pittsburgh is fair with factories generally in full operation, but a number of the smaller coke producers have shut down for the third season. For anthracite coal there is a better demand with reduced output.

The capacity of iron furnaces in blast June 1 was 157,115 tons weekly, against 141,312 tons May 1, but much of the decrease was due to the stoppage of furnaces at Johnstown, which were not much injured, and are expected to resume work immediately. The sales of pig iron continue large, and prices of high at Pittsburgh are rather lower, but the Thomas iron company has advanced its quotations to $17 for No. 1. Better prices are realized for structural and plate iron, and a tenth of a cent better for bar iron, while the larger demand for steel rails has so stiffened the price that $28 is now quoted. Part of the demand resulting from the necessity of rebuilding works, bridges and roads destroyed by floods is but temporary, and yet the consumption otherwise must be on a scale hardly ever surpassed since prices stiffened with raw iron coming into market at the rate of more than 7,000,000 tons yearly.

Grain stocks are stronger—wheat one cent, and corn one of 25,000,000 bushels, and sales here and oats each an eighth. Less favorable crop reports are the pretext. Probably excessive speculative sales are the cause. Cotton has not changed, and the official report for May shows exports of 101,257,564 pounds, against 101,610,621 last year. Since June 1 the shipments have been very small, with even greater decrease in port receipts. Coffee has rounded a quarter at last affecting speculative confidence. Pork products and hogs are lower, but oil has advanced 11 cents. The rise in raw sugar continues, 41 cents per 100 pounds for the week, and refined has been marked up to 94 cents for granulated. No disturbance results in the money market here from the heavy exports of gold, in part because during the past week the treasury has paid out $2,600,000 more than it has taken in, but shrinking bank reserves in June do not promise easy money next fall.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported by R. G. Dun & Company, the mercantile agency, by telegraph, number, for the United States, 226, and for Canada 24, or a total of 250, as compared with a total of 237 last week, and 215 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 232, made up of 259 in the United States and 23 in Canada.

A Murdres Pays the Death Penalty.
WAY CROSS, Ga., June 15.—Alexander Henderson, colored, was hanged yesterday at Bainbridge, Ga., for the murder of Henry Jones and his 7-year-old daughter. Henderson broke down on the scaffold and admitted his guilt. His cries went up to all but the drop fell. His neck was not broken, and he died of strangulation in fourteen minutes. Jones paid some attention to Henderson's wife. Henderson warned him to keep away from his home. Jones repeated his visits until the night of the murder. Jones' little daughter accompanied him, and Henderson, after murdering Jones, threw her into the river near by and drowned her.

Ten cent tickets catch a great many people and Stowe Bros. are probably making lots of money, for they skillfully avoid paying license and otherwise keep down expenses.

The grove was lighted throughout with red lights in a picturesque and pleasing manner, and the hours spent with various amusements and elegant music furnished by the Star band. Of the many delightful features of the occasion, the museum was the most attractive, as here the sacred cow and the greatest wonders of the land were exhibited. Delicious refreshments were served and, judging by the numbers present, the band reaped a reward of financial success.

Affairs at Johnstown

Work of Restoration But Slowly Progressing.

RAIN INTERFERES WITH WORK.

The Fire consuming the debris refuses to burn and dynamite is the only resort. The loss of life may not reach the estimated number—Wants and needs of the sufferers.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 15.—Pouring rain with intervals of scorching sunshine greatly retarded the progress of removal of wreckage yesterday. The laborers generally refused to take a soaking for the $1.50 they might have earned by so doing. The delay is trying to the patience of all parties interested.

It is salty and raining hard now, and the fires refuse to burn. The only place that any work was done was at the raft where dynamiting was continued throughout the entire day, and a large part of the big raft toward the upper end has been dislodged. Some of the shoreward were terrible, both in effect and noise. One charge contained 140 pounds of the explosive.

The smell of burning and deafening fire drove the dynamiters from their work. The odor emanating from this pile of debris is simply terrible.

Night Work Prohibited.

An effort will be made to have the work at the bridge continued by night as well as by day, and some special inducement will probably be presented to the men to keep them at their work, rain or shine. The aim of those in charge is to have everything systematized by the time of Governor Beaver's arrival on his proposed tour of inspection. The organization is now believed to be as nearly perfect as it can be made, and every department is in control of responsible and competent men. The necessity for a lookout was apparent yesterday, and orders have been issued for the construction of a proper building for this purpose. Several arrests for various offenses were made by the police and soldiers. The culprits were locked in a box car for safe keeping.

Encouragement to Immigrants.

Col. Moody, division passenger agent, of the Pennsylvania lines, west of Pittsburgh, has been commissioned as superintendent of transportation. Blank orders for tickets to be charged to the state have been prepared, and will be given to those desiring to leave for the west. A great many have already left the city, and others are anxiously waiting to start.

Declines to Be a Commissioner.

Mr. Fulton's declining to serve as one of Governor Beaver's commissioners for the relief fund, provoked much harsh criticism from many of Johnstown's prominent citizens, some claiming that Mr. Fulton was not the friend of the sufferers here that he claimed to be. Mr. Fulton gave his reason for declining to serve, that he will be too much occupied in getting the Cambria works in operation.

Recommendations to the Governor.

A meeting of citizens was hastily called at the Pennsylvania freight house. A. J. Maxham presided and stated that "it is all important that we should have a representative citizen on that commission. We do not know whether the governor will entertain our recommendations, but I think that if we would telegraph advising the appointment of some one who is in sympathy with our people and in whom we all have confidence, he would probably comply with our suggestions."

Capt. Kuhns, with suggestive tone of voice, moved "That we recommend to the governor that John Fulton's resignation be accepted promptly and that we place in nomination a man who has the confidence and love of every man, woman and child in the Conemaugh valley. I mean Col. John P. Linton." Other speeches followed and Col. Linton was selected and a telegram to that effect was sent to the governor.

Saloon at Cambria to Be Closed.

It was discovered last night that several saloons had opened up for business in Cambria City. The report reached Gen. Hastings that men were fighting and drinking. Orders were sent at once to Col. Perment to notify the proprietors to close up at once. In one case of non-compliance a guard was placed in the rum shops. Two thousand and seven hundred dollars in money, raised by Pittsburgh teachers for Johnstown school teachers who are out of employment and were financially ruined by the flood were received yesterday. The fund was placed in the care of a committee of local teachers.

Newspaper Men's Excursion.

The Pennsylvania railway is arranging to take the newspaper men now here over the road as far as South Fork and Orono to view the track of the flood. The excursion will be some day next week.

The Actual Loss of Life.

The aggregate number of bodies found thus far is 933 at Johnstown and surrounding moraines. At Nineveh 189; at Indiana county 70. This was up to Wednesday morning. The findings since that time are 48; some of these were found yesterday. This makes a total of 1,940. Of the bodies found yesterday, those of W. B. Howe, Capt. O'Connell and Mary Holleran were identified.

Col. Rodgers, who has charge of listing the dead, says he still thinks the aggregate will fall below 2,500. He is finding great difficulty, however, in making up his list. Only 15,500 survivors out of a population of 29,000 have been registered.

Once More a Free Man.

Alexander Sullivan Released on Bail.

TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

The Judge Decides That There is Not Very Little Evidence Against Him. Nothing Startling Revealed Before the Grand Jury.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Alexander Sullivan was released yesterday afternoon under bail of $20,000. Sullivan was escorted by Sheriff Matson and two deputies into Judge Tukey's court room about 3 o'clock. He was a shade paler than usual, and at the audience caused by his appearance his eyes swept the crowd with a hunted look as if in apprehension of a horrible demonstration. Judge Tukey entered the court room at 3:45, and without any delay plunged into the case.

Having explained the petition, and proceeded to briefly review the testimony taken at the coroner's jury. He quoted copiously from the evidence of the witnesses, to whom Cronin had said that Alexander Sullivan would be the cause of his death, and that the latter had instigated a conspiracy to kill him. None of this evidence, he said, would be admitted in a court of law. This excluded, there was practically no evidence against him. It was conceded that Sullivan was an enemy of Cronin's, it was also conceded that Cronin was a bitter enemy of Sullivan's. There were several theories of the murder. One was that he was murdered by people for revenge growing out of the society troubles.

Assuming this to be so, what evidence was there identifying Sullivan with the crime. He was not shown to be connected with the renting of the cottage, or the hiring of the horse and buggy. It was not shown that he knew Sullivan or had any of the other persons. No act could be traced home to him. The theory that he was killed to prevent the exposure of the secrets of the triangle was unreasonable. It did not appear that Cronin was in possession of any vital facts. All he had would have been in evidence after his death. All of the evidence taken at the Buffalo investigation was in the possession of Dr. McCooly, of Philadelphia, and others.

As to the theory that the crime was perpetrated as a result of a decree of the Chicago court, the fact stood out that Sullivan had severed his connection with that order years ago. How, then, could he influence or control it? It was not shown that he had ever met or had any business dealings with any of the other conspirators. The jury was influenced by hearsay testimony. The strongest evidence against Sullivan was furnished by himself. It was the protest issued five days after the doctor's disappearance against his sitting on the Sullivan trial committee. It was couched in language of extraordinary violence and hatred.

But this very publication at such a time tended to show that Sullivan had no knowledge of the conspiracy. It seemed incredible that if he was a party to it, he would promulgate such a document right after the murder. The evidence pointed to Sullivan as a man who desired revenge on Cronin, but it pointed to no overt act. No impartial man could make up his mind that any jury would convict Sullivan on this evidence. The mere fact that one party was an enemy of the man killed was no proof that he was a participant in the murder. He had therefore come to the conclusion, and not without very considerable hesitation that had to such an amount as to insure his appearance, should an indictment be found should be accepted.

Sullivan preserved his usual cool, stolid demeanor, when the conclusion was announced and an attempt to appeal was suppressed by the bailiffs. There was an argument between the state's attorney and Mr. Trude as to the amount of bail. The latter, who said Sullivan was almost entirely without means, thought $5,000 to $10,000 sufficient. Finally $20,000 was agreed upon. Four gentlemen, who swore to the aggregate possession of over $500,000 of real estate, stepped forward. The bonds were made out and signed and Sullivan walked out of the room a free man.

The grand jury spent several hours in hearing the witnesses that testified before the coroner, but little progress was made. Officer Daniel Brown, who preferred the charges of treason against Cronin, was on the stand five hours, but it is understood that he did not vary much from his previous testimony.

Is Really a Spy?

TORONTO, Ont., June 15.—The Empire says: It would not be a surprise to some people if Dennis C. Feely, one of the men now brought forward most prominently in connection with the Cronin murder at Chicago, would turn out to be a British spy. He was at one time a most noted radical British subject. He joined the Colborne garrison battery many years ago. By his zeal and attention to duty he soon worked his way up to the position of sergeant major, and served in that capacity in 1866, during the Fenian raid when his battery was stationed in the old fort at Toronto. As soon as he was released from service he went to Rochester, where he became the head center of the Central organization. From there he went to Chicago. His name appears on the old service roll of the two batteries of artillery, that were quartered in the old fort, and it may be found on the pay sheets of the militia department of Ottawa.

The Hotel Register Crawl.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 15.—William G. Melville, a clerk in the office of the Trans-Missouri railway association was in Chicago on April 15 last, and registered at W. G. Melville at McCoy's hotel in that city. Chicago detectives heard that John J. Maroney, who is implicated in the Cronin murder, registered at the hotel about the same time, and after a comparison of Maroney's handwriting with the name in the register declared that Maroney had written the name "W. G. Melville." The detectives also discovered, as is alleged, that Thomas Desmond, the Irish Nationalist of San Francisco, had numerous interviews with Maroney or Melville at the hotel. Between April 15 and April 21st, Melville only stopped in Chicago one day, and the man who had interviews with him was Samuel Stophel, another railroad man who is in the same office with Melville. W. G. Melville is not an Irishman, and never had any connection with any clan or clandestine organization. He was reared in Lawrence, Kas., and since leaving school, has been in the employ of railroads. He is about 30 years of age.

Another Arrest.

The police last night arrested Thomas Tierney, a tinsmith employed by Sullivan, the tinsmith, and he was locked up at the Central station. Tierney has been under surveillance ever since Dr. Cronin's body was found and it is believed that he knows a good deal about the murder. It was learned last night that Hatfield, the clerk who sold the furniture that was delivered at No. 117 Clark street; Throckmorton, the clerk for Night & Leonard, who rented the rooms at the above number to the man Simons, and Marmonau, the expressman who removed the furniture taken to the Carlson cottage, had been taken to New York by detectives, to see if they can identify Maroney and McDonald as the men with whom they had the transaction.

The Horescopic View

Of the Present Condition of Business.

DUN'S WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

A Slight Improvement Reported From Nearly all the Leading Trade Centers. A Few Facts on Exports and Imports. Failures of the Past Week.

NEW YORK, June 15.—R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade says: The better feeling which was observed a week ago in the iron and steel and the woolen industries still continues, and improvement is now felt in prices as well as in magnitude of transactions. Meanwhile exports of merchandise increase, and nevertheless gold goes abroad in large amounts, about $3,500,000 having been ordered for shipment, the imports of merchandise remain about as large as they were a year ago, when the excess over exports was heavy, but in two weeks of June the value of merchandise exports from New York gains 20 per cent. over last year, and the exports of breadstuffs, cotton, provisions and oil for May were 12 per cent. above last year. Those facts point to a smaller, but yet considerable excess of imports over exports this year, so that the outward movement of specie is fully explained, irrespective of trading in securities, but in those it is still the impression that foreign sales exceed purchases.

The news as to railroad properties is more favorable. A proposition to sell the Northwestern controversy on the basis of an allowance of 60 per cent. of freight through to the lake lines is expected to be accepted. Other difficulties are in more satisfactory shape, and earnings continue in excess of last year. Rapid progress in restoring lines interrupted by the floods gives additional encouragement, and the loss of property and of life appears from later accounts to be less than was at first reported. Meanwhile the government and other crop reports, though in some points conflicting, are on the whole decidedly encouraging, but report of injury by lack of rain in some regions have been made the pretext for a little movement in the market, and the general average of prices has again advanced a little.

Reports from other cities indicate improvement in trade at Cleveland and Pittsburgh, and in the wool and groceries trades at Philadelphia, but are otherwise but little changed. Collections show no improvement on the whole, but complaints refer more frequently to the clothing trade than to any other, and some continuing embarrassment there is a legacy from the last open winter. In dry goods there are clear signs of greater activity, and some bleached cottons have been advanced while brown goods recently reduced in price have in some instances been put back. Especial activity in leather has resulted from the floods in regions where many tanneries are located and crop leather has advanced fully two cents since June 1. The glass trade of Pittsburgh is fair with factories generally in full operation, but a number of the smaller coke producers have shut down for the dull season. For automobile coal there is a better demand with reduced cost.

The capacity of iron furnaces in blast June 1 was 157,119 tons weekly, against 44,442 tons May 1, but much of the decrease was due to the stoppage of furnaces at Johnstown, which were not much injured, and are expected to resume work immediately. The sale of southern iron continues large, and prices of pig at Pittsburgh are rather lower, but the Thomas iron company has advanced its quotations to $17 for No. 1. Better prices are realized for structural and plate iron, and a tenth of a cent better for bar iron, while the larger demand for steel rails has so stiffened the price that $28 is now quoted. Part of the demand resulting from the necessity of rebuilding works, bridges and roads destroyed by floods is but temporary, and yet the consumption otherwise must be on a scale hardly ever surpassed since prices stiffen, with raw iron coming into market at the rate of more than 7,000,000 tons yearly.

Brookstuffs are stronger—wheat one cent, with sales here of 25,000,000 bushels, and corn and oats each an eighth. Less favorable crop reports are the pretext. Probably excessive speculative sales are the cause. Cotton has not changed, and the official report for May shows exports of 101,257,584 pounds, against 101,610,051 last year. Since June 1 the shipments have been very small, with even greater decrease in port receipts. Coffee has receded a quarter, the lack of demand at high price at last affecting speculative confidence. Pork products and hogs are lower, but oil has advanced 14 cents. The rise in raw sugar continues, 41 cents per 100 pounds for the week, and refined has been marked up to 8 cents for granulated. No disturbance results in the money market here from the heavy exports of gold, in part because during the past week the treasury has paid out $3,600,000 more than it has taken in, but shrinking bank reserves in June do not promise easy money next fall.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the seven days as reported by R. G. Dun & Company, the mercantile agency, by telegraph, number for the United States 226, and for Canada 24, or a total of 250, as compared with a total of 225 last week, and 215 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 232, made up of 209 in the United States and 23 in Canada.

A Kentucky Shooting Affray.

OVINGTOWN, Ky., June 15.—At Lebus & Hickman's tobacco warehouse Thursday afternoon Bob Mitchell, proprietor of a saloon, and Thomas and Charlie Roher had a shooting scrape. The Roher brothers were pricing tobacco and went into the rear yard, when Mitchell began firing. Four shots were fired and Tom Roher caught one bullet in the shoulder, which was later extracted by Dr. W. N. Scott. The wound is not fatal. Mitchell received severe wounds on the head. Mitchell was arrested.

The Wisdom of the Weather Clerk in mixing water with the Kentucky corn crop this season is demonstrated by the fact that blue grass farmers are beginning to see double-headed green vipers. Patrick Cook, highly respected and perfectly reliable, reports these vipers in Bracken county.

Delivered by Carrier, 10 Cts. per Week.
SATURDAY, JUNE 15.

It would be impossible to find anywhere in this country a more justly and universally unpopular institution than the South Fork Fishing Club, of Pittsburgh.

It is funny how the doctors were hunting today to become delegates to the State Convention. One cannot help but connect this fact with their aspirations to become pension examiners, for all the would-be delegates are applicants for places on the board. The doctors must desire to impress Col. Cooper of their power in politics here, or else they expect to win his favor by a complimentary if not a bona fide ballot for him for the head of the ticket.

A PAROLE law similar to the one in operation in this State has just been declared unconstitutional by the attorney-general of New Jersey. The State attorney general declares the law unconstitutional on the ground that judgment of the courts having been passed on those prisoners, it is beyond the power of the legislature to give authority to the head keeper and inspectors to interfere with the sentence, the Court of Pardons alone having jurisdiction. Of course, if this view is correct, the parole law of Ohio is also unconstitutional.

A REFERENCE to the Council proceedings shows that the Council has ordered an unusual amount of street improvement, but we are happy to be informed that this is the end, indeed this whole sale job was ordered so as to complete the village improvement and prepare for the change to city government, with out a possible charge of partiality. Then street improvement can be assessed on adjoining property without justified kicking. It is lamentable, however, that Main street and West Center are to be relieved of their expensive beds of crushed stone and filled again with the same material beneath a coat of gravel. But the people do not seem to want to be modern, and at present there is no remedy.

27000 in a Market Basket.

One of the best sales of real estate made in our city, was the Wisconsin sale of seven-cent lot on East Market street, this week, for $7000 cash. Mr. Wisconsin called one of our citizens to verify the count, and when the time came, the purchaser, Mrs. Finney, of Wynnewood, presented a market basket she had on her arm, and took out one bill after another, of $5 and $10 green backs, until the amount of purchase money was counted. The basket was one of the kind that peddlers are usually shipped in, and the money supply had a small shawl laid over it, like it might have been a couple of dozen of eggs she was bringing to market.

Thompson's ten-cent show, the big Barman of all time shows, will pitch its tents in Marion June 20th, on Oak street, near Prendergast's lumber yard. They come well recommended, as they give a first class performance, more than fifty cent shows. So go early and take the little ones, and secure a comfortable seat to this rural show, on June 20th. Admission only 10 cents.

Whether on pleasure bent or business, should take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectively on the kidney, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50c and $1.00 bottles by all leading druggists.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Delegation selected to the State Convention After Much Hauling.

The Republican county convention for the selection of delegates to the state convention was held at the city hall this afternoon. There was a fair attendance and considerable hustling for the honors.

J. F. McNeal was chosen chairman and H. B. Hane secretary. The committee on credentials admitted the first ward delegation, which met at the surveyor's office, and then a committee was appointed to nominate candidates for delegates.

The names of C. L. Patten, S. O. Brenner, W. E. Parker, L. D. Hamilton, Chas. Warwick, J. J. Hane, W. L. Marsh, A. H. Kling, Clark Clendenen, Geo. E. Lawrence, J. F. McNeal and Joseph Klinefelter were presented, and after much misunderstanding the ballot proceeded and elected the first five named above for delegates and the following five for alternates. It was a big scoop for the outside delegations.

Services at St. Paul's Trinity Sunday. Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Morning prayer and sermon at 11. Subject of sermon, "The Scriptural Doctrine of the Holy Trinity."

Evening prayer and sermon at 7:30. Subject of sermon, "Old Testament History in the Light of Modern Discoveries."

Seats free. All are cordially invited.

Tired Out.

The distressing feeling of weariness, and exhaustion without effort, which makes life a burden to so many people, is due to poverty of the blood and feeble vitality. If you are suffering from such feelings, Blood Builder is just what you need, and will be of the greatest benefit to you.

It purifies and enriches the blood, imparts tone and vigor to the whole system, aids digestion and overcomes all morbid tendencies and nervous affections caused by a depressed state of the blood, strengthens and builds up the system, while it eradicates disease. Italians in the Argentine Republic.

During the last thirty-three years about a million and a half immigrants have reached the Argentine provinces. Of these, 65.25 per cent, are officially set down as Italians. These figures, however, do not sufficiently indicate their real preponderance. In the first place, a fourth of the total immigrants are not classified except as entering the state by way of Montevideo, where it is very common for transshipments of passengers from Europe to take place. Probably if the Montevideo returns were analyzed, the percentage of Italians would work out as not less than 75 per cent. of the whole. But there is another and still more important fact to be borne in mind. The Italians in South America increase with remarkable rapidity, the marriages made between them and the natives proving peculiarly fruitful—a circumstance not observed in such a high degree among the other immigrants.

In 1885 the Italian chamber of commerce of Buenos Ayres calculated that the inhabitants of Italian birth and parentage then residing in the republic numbered over a million, while at the present moment it is estimated that persons in whom Italian blood or Italian race influence predominates, constitute more than half the existing population, now reckoned to be over three millions and a half. Under such circumstances can it be doubted that in a very few years the Italianization of the Valley of the Plata will be complete?

The only fact that tells against such a supposition is the newly adopted immigration policy of the Argentine government, which has lately instructed its agents in Europe to do all in their power to attract immigration from among the northern races. The danger of being swamped by the most vigorous of the Latin peoples is fully realized at Buenos Ayres, and considerable numbers of Belgians, Hollanders, North Germans and Swedes have already been attracted by almost free passages and generous grants of land. We doubt, however, the continued success of such a policy. Emigration flows with difficulty in new channels.—The Spectator.

A Child Killer.

Another child killed by the use of opiates given in the form of soothing syrup. Why mothers give their children such deadly poison is surprising when they can relieve the child of its peculiar troubles by using Acker's Baby Soother. It contains no Opium or Morphine. Sold by H. C. Hohmann & Co.

THE WORLD'S LARGE BELLS.

One That Weighs 435,000 Pounds, and Others Not to Be Named At.

For 900 years after the Bishop of Nola first set up his church bell in Campania, no attempts were made at casting larger ones. The bell presented to the church at Orleans in the Eleventh century weighed but 2,800 pounds, being then the largest in the world. In the thirteenth century bells of one, two and three tons weight were not rare. In the year 1400 the Jacqueline was cast at Paris, the first of the great bells, weighing, without the hammer, 15,000 pounds, or seven and one half tons.

The rage for big bells soon became a passion. Seventy-two years later Paris almost doubled her first effort in the big bell line by casting one of twelve and a half tons. The big bell of Rouen was cast in 1501. It weighed 36,364 pounds.

The largest bell in the world at the present time, or that ever has been, is the famous King of Bells, now at Moscow, Russia. It was cast in the year 1732, partly from fragments of another great bell called the Giant, which was broken in the early part of the Seventeenth century by falling from its support.

The Giant, although not as large as the one of which its fragments now form a part, was, nevertheless, no pigmy, as the reader may infer upon being informed that its weight was not less than 285,000 pounds! It is said to have taken the combined strength of twenty-four men to bring the Giant in its palmy days. The King of Bells, like the Giant, has had the misfortune to get broken. Five years after it was cast, in 1737, during a great fire, a heavy timber fell against the King and broke an immense three cornered piece from its side, leaving a gap wide enough to admit two men walking abreast.

It is now on the ground and is said to have been used about ten years ago as a place of worship, the gap in the side serving as a means of ingress and egress. The writer is aware that this sounds like a fairy story, but surely there is nothing about it in the least improbable, inasmuch as the monster is 19 feet 3 inches in height and 60 feet 9 inches around the margin! The weight of this colossal folly has been variously given, but never less than 443,000 pounds! Think of it, 220 tons. By some gross carelessness several hundred pounds of gold were said to have been incorporated in its composition. Russia lends the world in the matter of great bells, Moscow also claiming second place in the world's championship in its St. Ivan's, which weighs 127,850 pounds. It is 16 inches in thickness, and 40 feet 9 inches in circumference.

China has several large bells, for according to Father Le Comte, Peking has seven bells, each of which weighs 120,000 pounds. The great bell at Vienna, Austria, weighs 40,300 pounds. The largest bell in Bohemia, that at Olmutz, weighs exactly 40,000 pounds. "Big Ben," the pride of London, would look like a farm house dinner bell compared with the monster of Moscow above mentioned, weighing but fifteen tons. "Big Ben" is not the largest bell of London, however. St. Paul's cathedral having one which weighs 38,470 pounds. The largest bell on that wonderful piece of architecture, St. Peter's cathedral at Rome, weighs but 18,000 pounds; hardly two-thirds the size of the largest bell in America, that at Montreal, which weighs 28,500.—John W. Wright in St. Louis Republic.

A Substitute for Glass.

The new translucent substance intended as a substitute for glass has been satisfactorily adopted in some of the public buildings in London, and various advantages are claimed for it, among these being such a degree of pliancy that it may be bent backward and forward like leather, and to be subjected to very considerable tensile strain with impunity; it is also almost as translucent as glass and of a pleasing amber color, varying in shade from a very light golden to pale brown. The basis of the materials is a web of fine iron wire, with warp and weft threads about one-twelfth inch apart, this being inclosed, like a fly in amber, in a sheet of translucent varnish, of which the base is linseed oil. There is no resin or gum in the varnish, and once having become dry it is capable of standing heat and damp without undergoing any change, neither becoming sticky. Briefly, the manufacture is accomplished by dipping the sheets edge-wise into deep tanks of varnish and then allowing them to dry in a warm atmosphere. It requires somewhat more than a dozen of these dips to bring the sheets to the required degree of thickness, and when this has been accomplished the material is stored for several weeks to thoroughly set.—Chicago Times.

Wanted a New Assistant.

A short story comes down from a small lumber camp in Wisconsin, showing the peculiar manner a Swede had of expressing himself. This Swede was the "boss" of a river gang, but, as the work was very light, the "gang" consisted of only one man, and he had what might be called a "soft snap." One day the boss went to the superintendent and said he wanted another man. The official looked at him in wonder. "Another man," he said, "why, you don't have half enough work for the man you have; what in the world do you want of another one?" "Dat man," replied the boss in a sober and matter-of-fact manner, "was under der lox about fifteen minutes pack and he hasn't comed up yet; I dinks he vas quit."—Chicago Herald.

How Much He Appreciated.

A Polish novelist, M. Sienkiewicz, was recently made happy by the receipt of a check for $2,000 from a total stranger, who stated that he had been so pleased at reading one of the author's works that nothing less than the sum mentioned could express his feelings. The continental papers suggest that the example is a good one to follow, and that if all good novelists were thus appreciated there would be less poverty among writers.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Bitter, driver of Jay Eye See, says: "Having given Veterinary Carbolivase a thorough trial, I can fully endorse it, and take pleasure in recommending it to all owners of horses as the best remedy that I ever saw for general stable use." Large cans $1.00; Small cans 50 cents. Sold by W. B. Foye.

Killing Mrs. Proudle.

When Dickens was remonstrated with by hosts of London ladies for killing "Little Paul Dombey," a critic said, "If Dickens don't kill Paul, Paul will kill Dickens." The critic thought that if Dickens had allowed Paul to grow up into manhood, he, the author, would have failed in fitting him to his surroundings, and thus injured his own reputation.

While Anthony Trollope was writing "The Last Chronicle of Barset," he surprised a friend one day by saying to him, "There's the end of Mrs. Proudle!"

"Why?" asked the friend.
Mr. Trollope replied that he was writing one day in the club, while a group of young clergymen, gathered around the fireplace, were talking about the novel, which was appearing as a serial. He could not help overhearing them, as they praised the work, but agreed that Mrs. Proudle was becoming an intolerable nuisance.

"What do you do?" asked the friend.
"Well," replied Trollope, "I hesitated a good deal what to do; but I finally made up my mind and went up to them and explained that I couldn't help hearing what they were saying, and I added, 'I am very much obliged to you, I am Anthony Trollope, and I'll go home and kill Mrs. Proudle.'"

And so he did.—Youth's Companion.

How to Be Smart.

The gingham kind is to the fore, and mankind being ignorant, talks about sweet simplicity and doesn't know that it is mounted on silk and is quite as costly as a woolen one would be.

To be smart, you must sit up straight in your velvet and not roll in one corner of it.

Your shoes must shine, even if you haven't time to cultivate your intellect. The outside world only sees the brightness at one end.

You must wonder if really nice people ever did wear diamond ear rings except at balls.

You must wear your gloves neither too tight nor too loose, but to fit.

And if you want to achieve the very height of smart indifference, you must languidly ask the sister of the man you are going to marry "what his first name is?"

SEALSKIN WRAPS!

Mr. E. P. Robinson, representing Henry A. Newland & Co., of Detroit, Mich., with a complete line of Sealskin Cloaks and Wraps and Fine Fancy Furs, will be pleased to meet the ladies at our store, Monday, June 17, with a view of consulting with reference to requirements in this line for Fall and Winter, 1889-90.

In explanation of this early opening permit us to say: Experience has proven that customers ordering early can be assured of better value, as first selections of skins and material are always most desirable; also that work done in midsummer can be consummated at less cost of labor. We will take your order now, guaranteeing quality, style, fit and workmanship, and have your garment ready for prompt delivery at any date preferred after October 1. REPAIR WORK can be much more satisfactorily done in the dull season, and we believe the ladies will appreciate this opportunity and will reserve the date above named for an examination of the latest importations, which we warrant to be the finest ever shown in this vicinity.

STREETS AND ALLEYS

The City Council Devotes the Season Exclusively to this Branch of Public Business.

The city council met in an adjourned session on Friday night, and devoted the evening exclusively to street and alley business and accomplished considerable work. Inasmuch as this is the last work of this kind that the council expects to order under a village charter, it is of unusual interest.

The petition of E. B. Duffey for permission to grade alleys, without public cost, in Duffey & Hummer's addition was referred to the Street and Alley committee.

A crossing was ordered constructed at the intersection of Charles and South streets, in East Marion.

The ordinance vacating certain alleys in the Park Boulevard addition, on petition of E. Huber and others, was passed.

An ordinance was passed repealing all former ordinances establishing street grades. This is a preparatory step to establishing a standard grade for all streets.

The Street and Alley committee was instructed to ascertain the cost of opening George street from Main to West and report same.

Then a series of ordinances were passed authorizing street improvements by contract. North and south Main, beginning at the N. Y. P. and O. railroad and Pleasant street respectively, are to be cut to a standard grade, macadamized and graveled.

An effort was made to include curbing and lawns on this Main street work, but the necessary number of property holders refused to sanction it.

The west Center street improvement was ordered, from Oak street west. The improvement consists of cutting to a standard grade, macadamizing, graveled, with lawns and curbing like that of east Center street.

Canal, Jefferson, Quarry and Patterson streets were ordered a cutting of crushed stone.

KNOCKED OUT AGAIN

George Creek sustained in the Circuit Court and Restraining Order Refused.

Early Friday morning the attorneys and principal clients in the Goose Creek litigation went to Bucyrus to get a hearing in the Circuit court. The opponents of the improvement have appealed from the decision of the Common Pleas court and prayed for a restraining order to prevent any work being done. The circuit court heard the petition for a restraining order and the arguments of the attorneys, and is faced to grant it, an action of the Circuit court that practically sustains the decision of the lower court.

See Line Fast Time (Hudson Inquirer.)

See Line engine 167, with seven cars, F. H. Ness engineer and D. Kennedy fireman, made an elegant and perhaps unprecedent run from Marion to Cleveland on Tuesday, June 19, last Sunday. The actual running time from Marion to Cleveland—a distance of 200 miles—was 4 hours and 36 minutes. Without the knowledge of the train and engine men a postal clerk kept a record of the time from Marion for a distance of 51 miles, the result being as follows:

2 miles in 1 minute and 45 seconds

3 " " " " " 25 "

4 " " " " " 15 "

5 " " " " " 12 "

6 " " " " " 7 "

7 " " " " " 10 "

8 " " " " " 5 "

9 " " " " " 46 "

10 " " " " " 2 "

Making a total of 54 miles in 49 minutes. Now let Late Sutton beat the record if he can.

Cheap Excursion to Cleveland. On Wednesday, June 19th, the popular See Line will run a cheap excursion to Cleveland, O. The excursion train will leave Marion at 6:30 a. m. and arrive at Cleveland at 10:40 a. m. Fare for round trip $1.75.

Everybody can depend on a good time, enjoying one whole day in the Forest City. For particulars see small bills.

A Railroad Joke. (Hudson Sun-Review.)

A letter from Col. Boone to a gentleman in this city conveys the information that work on the road will be commenced not later than July 15th. The same assurance was given by Col. Hawkins when here a month ago. We hope this will prove true. So many such statements have heretofore been made that our people look upon this later one with a great many grains of allowance, and the only thing now that will restore confidence in the construction of the road will be the throwing of dirt all along the line. We will see what July 15th will develop.
